

AMERICAN IMPOSTER PRESS RELEASE

Friday night, June 26, get ready to rock, and put on your blue suede shoes, for a musical competition at CanoeFest 2009 unlike any other seen before, jam-packed with world-famous celebrities, NOT!

American Imposter pits the best impersonators of the greatest performers of all time on stage together. Elvis! Marilyn! Ozzy! And many more will be on hand to thrill the crowd. CanoeFest 2009 promises one of its biggest lineups ever, including Eagles tribute band 7 Bridges, CanoeFest Idol, and a fireworks and laser show to blow you away. And American Imposter will certainly be big big fun that you don't want to miss. You may not be able to hang with the stars, but at American Imposter, you can rub elbows (and more) with them.

The competition's top prize is $500 and may rise higher. It will commence on CanoeFest's Friday night lineup following the opening round of CanoeFest Idol, showcasing the best in local talent.

CanoeFest features Indiana's largest canoe race and a fun 2 day festival in beautiful Brookville Town Park. Reviving a 1963 tradition, CanoeFest has grown to crowds of over 25,000 people a day in just 3 years back. Other events like the Great Chicken Fry-Off, Canoe Princess Contest, and Olde Time Baseball Game make this festival unique and fun like no other.

All in all, you can't beat CanoeFest for authentic and original fun. Come on down to Brookville, Indiana June 26 and 27 for CanoeFest. For more information about American Imposter, contact Ruth Geis at 765-265-7131 (ruthgeis@verizon.net), or checkout the CanoeFest website at www.canoeFest.org.
